Here are more than 2500 vocabulary essential for IELTS in 25 different topics, which will help you to score band +7.5 to 8. IELTS exam contains four sections: Listening, Reading, Writing, and Speaking. On each section, you should have a strong background about vocabulary so you can deal with it and score a high band 7- 8. IELTS vocabulary Listening section of the IELTS exam consists of four parts, the first part is the easiest and the last one is the hardest. You will hear a wide variety of IELTS words with different speeds and usually with the British accent. In a few cases, you may hear one record with the Australian accent. You will hear numbers, letters, names, directions, mono speech, and conversations using daily language as well as academic and scientific compound terms particularly in part 4. The reading section contains three reading passages with 40 questions and you should answer all these questions in 1 hour. The average time for each reading passage is 20 minutes, and many IELTS instructors prefer to take a maximum of 6 to 8 minutes to read the passage completely to save time to answer the question. You can not do this fast reading without a good knowledge about the advanced IELTS vocabulary. As you know, there are four criteria to evaluate your IELTS essays for task 1 and task 2. One of these criteria is called lexical resource, which evaluates the words you write in your essay, how rich your vocabulary is, and to what extent you know how to use it. Choosing the right words in the context, using synonyms, and avoiding tautology will increase your final score. IELTS vocabulary will reduce your IELTS writing score if: you use words in the wrong meaning; you confuse the form of a word (for example, instead of an adjective, use a noun, etc.); you do not use synonyms and repeat the same words; you spell many words in a wrong way. ► IELTS vocabulary in the Speaking section Again in the speaking section, lexical resource or vocabulary using is one of the criteria on which the IELTS examiner will give you the final score according to it. To get a high score on this criterion, it is necessary to know a wide variety of terms on the topic of discussion.
